HERE'S the POINT

By SPENCE HELD

Johnny Long, of Bert's store on Newport Ave., took an order over the phone for a case of brew. "And please," said the woman, "don't forget to leave the carton open this time."

"How come?" Johnny inquired.

"Well, last time there was a little mouse in it!"

One of my better spies reports that a tailored suit of Navy blues was found in front of 1926 Bacon St. the other morning. The sailor who mislaid them can pick up same at that address.

Me, I haven't been fishing since I was knee high to a baby barracuda, but I note various characters carrying fishing rods hereabouts, so the following item may be of interest:

The A-1 Bait & Tackle Co. reported that Arkie Geurin, musician, caught a 6-pound capazone (whatever that is) recently from the jetty near where the old Ocean Beach bridge used to be.

Charlie Freeman, Ocean Beach Chamber of Commerce secretary, whispered in my shell-like ear that two advance agents for a chain-market outfit in L.A. have been snooping around Ocean Beach with the idea of acquiring a site for a supermarket.

"They told me," said Charlie, "that this is the brightest spot they've seen in San Diego for a market."

After Sunday's heat and dry dusty wind I was pleasantly surprised that night by the remarkably clear view from Point Loma across the bay. The lights of San Diego sparkled like a million brilliant jewels—white, yellow, red, blue and green.

The magnificent panorama was doubly welcome, coming as it did after several fog-shrouded nights.

"Preacher" Webb, of Webb's Canteen, appeared as a potential witness in court not long ago. He was introduced to the defense attorney; they shook hands, and the attorney, scenting an effective witness for his client, asked Webb what church he preached in.

"I'm not a preacher, just a bartender," he replied.

Webb got his nickname when he was a sprout by talking another kid out of pasting him one.)

Comes now the "baby pool." At Community Chest headquarters the staff members each contributed two-bits and a guess on when John Chandler's son or daughter would be born.

Mrs. Betty Dasen guessed 10 p.m. Saturday. The baby, a girl, was born at 9:38 p.m. and Mrs. Dasen won five bucks.

Local Fishermen Place In Derby

Two Peninsula anglers took daily prizes for heavy fish last week in the $5000 Winter Fishing Derby.

George White landed a 10-pound 3-ounce grouper for a second place and H. V. Brehm took another second with a 10-pound 11-ounce cow cod.

Bagging a 17-pound 10-ounce ling cod on his first deep sea fishing trip in more than two years, Warren Wilson, of La Mesa, clinched top honors for the week and forged a new monthly lead in the derby.

Wilson made his catch late Saturday to literally snatch the weekly award out of the hands of H. C. Hicks, of San Diego, who had been setting the pace with a 15-6 ling cod. Third went to William Cain, Newport, with a 14-7 cow cod, and fourth to John Corrieri, Coronado, with a 13-1 ling.

Rough water and wind slowed down fishing last week-end, but otherwise rod and reelers were favored by fine weather and exceptionally heavy bags of red cod and groupers.

Petty Crime, Crashes Reported In This Area

A variety of petty crime was reported in Ocean Beach recently, ranging from a market burglary to the theft of articles from a car on Rosecrans St. Four car crashes were listed.

The Azure Vista Market at 852 Cordova St., was broken into during the past week-end, with a loss of $10 in currency. This was said to be the first time money was ever left in the store. Entry was made by breaking an air vent off the roof and climbing down a rope into the store.

A candy machine and contents was taken from outside the pet shop on Bacon street sometime Sunday.

Thieves even steal blankets, according to Dorothy Thomas, who reported the theft of one valued at $20 taken from her yard at 4969 Narragansett Ave.

George Gunning reported to police that while he had parked his car in the 300 block on Rosecrans, someone pried open a windwing and took men's clothing valued at $100. The articles included suit, coat, slacks and shoes.

Ernest G. Freitas, 4627 Castellar street, last Thursday at 5 p.m. collided with a car driven by William Akey, 2101 Cable street at the intersection of Brighton and Guizot streets. Both cars received damage.

Minor damage occurred to cars driven by Franklin Holcomb, 4938 Coronado Avenue, and Mildred Hughes, 1980 Froude Street, when they were involved in a crash at Santa Monica Avenue and Cable street last Thursday at 4 p.m.

Tommy Sacrentz, 1164 Concord street received a lower lip injury and was taken to his home, following a collision involving his car and another. George F. Commbs, 4635 Bermuda Avenue had stopped his car at the curb in Santa Barbara street between Bermuda and Pescadero Avenue, and in pulling back in traffic, collided with the car driven by young Sacrentz.

Sunday the car driven by Joe C. Monise, 3027 Lawrence St., had just made a legal "U" turn at the intersection of Rosecrans and Carlton streets in Point Loma. His car was struck by one driven by Richard Cole, 942 Beech street, San Diego. Ruth Cole, a passenger, was taken to Mercy Hospital with minor injuries.

Boy Dies After Fall At Cliffs

Two-year-old Joseph Allen Coon, son of Mr. and Mrs. James A. Coon, of 3513 Valiant St., Frontier Homes, died Tuesday night in County Hospital of injuries suffered when he fell 75 feet from Sunset Cliffs earlier in the day.

The boy's skull was fractured in the fall. He was found lying in the surf by Charles B. Hunter and Hugh Edwards, City Water Department employees.

Mr. and Mrs. Coon had been living with the boy's grandmother, Mrs. Joseph Naud, at 845 Sunset Cliffs Blvd., while their two-months'-old daughter was in a hospital recovering from pneumonia this week.

Funeral arrangements for the boy were being made by Beardsley Mortuary.

SCOUT COOKIES GO ON SALE STARTING FRI.

The Girl Scout Council of San Diego County will begin its 17th annual cookie sale tomorrow, with no prior solicitation and only direct sales. It will continue through Feb. 22.

Chairmen for the Peninsula area are: Mrs. Clarence Strand, of 1986 Venice St., Ocean Beach; Mrs. Ralph Way, 1135 Alexandria Dr., Point Loma; Mrs. P. A. Rooks, 2425 Palermo Dr., Loma Portal, and Mrs. Ralph de Lozier, 3842 Hicock St., Frontier.

Money from this year's sale of cookies will be used to build a new kitchen for the Brownie Camp. The present one was built to accommodate 35 Brownies and staff. This year there will be 125 Brownies and 50 staff members for each of the five 10-day sessions. The building must be completed by June 1. If the money is not raised in this Cookie Sale, fewer Brownies will be able to enjoy their camp.

Another important goal is the repairing and renovating of the filter system for the swimming pool. The present filter was installed in 1935-1936.

In a survey of things liked best by campers 95% of the 1,500 girls who attended Girl Scout Camps last year, voted swimming tops.

Each Girl Scout has a minimum this year of 24 boxes to sell. Any one who purchased these cookies in previous years knows they are delicious, fresh and crispy. So when that cute little girl with her green uniform knocks at your door, help give her the encouragement she needs!

LOCAL UNIVERSITY TO EXPAND

RELAXATION—This is the student lounge at California Western University, where the young men and women gather between classes to unwind and enjoy a little recreation. Students are offered many opportunities in athletics, debating, music, drama and social events.

Ocean Beach Expected To Become College Town

Plans for a $1,500,000 building program at California Western University which is expected to make Point Loma a cultural center and Ocean Beach a college town, were announced this week. Dr. William C. Rust, University president, revealed that "within the next few years we expect to build a new science building, library, auditorium and dormitories."

When the full quota of 1200 students — 800 undergraduate and 400 graduate students—is reached within 10 years, the institution will be equivalent to a new industry which employs 400 persons. The annual income then will total $1,500,000 from student fees, gifts, property rentals, etc., it was estimated.

Situated on a beautiful 112-acre campus overlooking the Pacific, California Western already is a tourist attraction and will become increasingly so. Its further development is expected to boost nearby property values.

Negotiations now are underway with the Methodist Conference (Southern California and Arizona) to make it a Methodist university. Then, with an assured future, the institution will be in line to receive gifts from large foundations and wealthy education-minded individuals, it was explained.

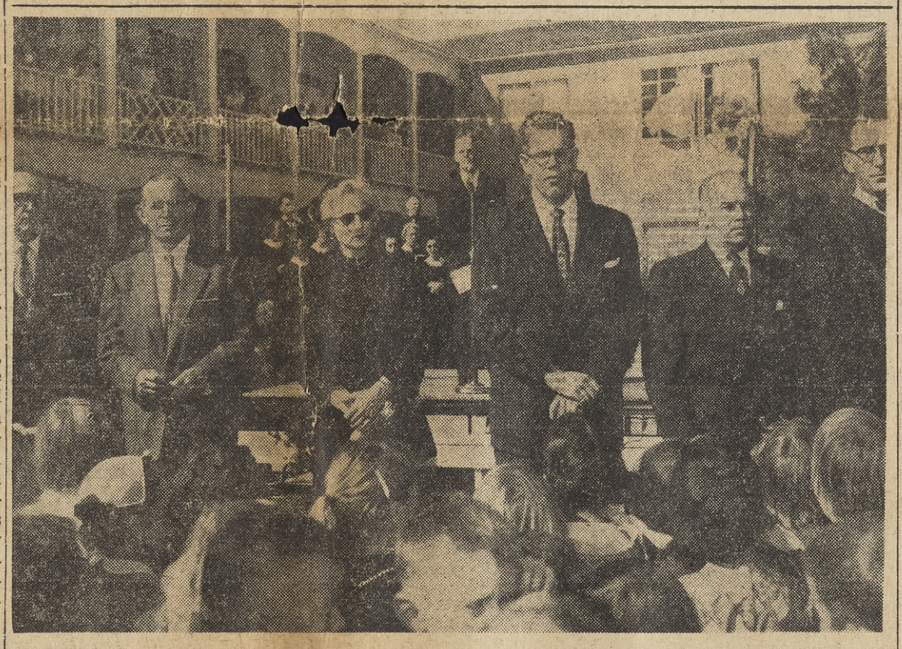
A campaign now is being conducted to raise $178,000 for the university—$100,000 to pay off indebtedness and $78,000 for current improvements.

California Western now has about 210 full- and part-time students, mostly at night, although day classes were started last fall. The enrollment is expected to reach 300 by September and 400 in the fall of 1955.

The 18-member faculty will be increased to keep classes small and assure an intimate relationship between students and professors. The university will stress above-average scholastic standing.

Location of Cal Western here means that Peninsula residents can attend school from kindergarten through college without leaving their own area. Many out-of-town students will be attracted here. Plans call for summer conferences of educators and other cultural groups.

First of a series of luncheon meetings to acquaint San Diegans with the university was held Tuesday in Lomaland Hall, and will continue through Feb. 24 under sponsorship of the Board of Trustees headed by Frederick C. Sherman and George A. Scott. Tours of the campus are included.



GROUNDBREAKING—The six persons facing the Camera, with Rev. S. Dean McBride in the background, were among 10 who wielded shovels Sunday to signalize start of work on the new Point Loma Community Church, Udal St. at Chatsworth Blvd. Left to right are Lloyd Baldridge Frank Guasti, Mrs. Hugh Morick, Jerome Pendleton, Tallie M. Welch and Kent Suttle. Not shown were Dr. John C. Holman Jr., Miss Dicksie Osgood, Miss Carol Warner and Paul W. Brown. About 1500 persons attended the ceremonies. The church, costing $350,000, will be of colonial design and is expected to be completed Oct. 1.

Mrs. Charles Wollam Celebrates Her 82nd Birthday This Week

Mrs. Charles Wollam celebrated her 82nd birthday Tuesday, the 32nd birthday spent in Ocean Beach—and right at the same house, 2247 Froude St.

In 1920, before Mr. and Mrs. Wollam built their home, they had to get the City Surveyor's Office to find the lot. Wollam purchased the lot years ago when Col. Collier began boosting this area. Mrs. Wollam says that Froude street from Voltaire to Green was waist high in weeds at that time. Theirs was the first house in that block.

Wollam, being employed in the building of the Marine Base, wanted to be closer to his work. They had been living in East San Diego. They built on the rear of the lot, thinking that sometime they would build in front. We who have known the wonderful vegetable gardens and fruit trees grown and tended by Mrs. Wollam are glad they never found the opportunity to do so. Until Mrs. Wollam was 80 years young she worked in her garden.

We do mean young. Perhaps her body shows age, but her mind is a marvel. World politics, the advancement of youth (and how she is on youth's side!), and always her parting phrase, "Be happy and of good cheer," keep her to us as young as we first knew her almost 20 years ago. Happy birthday, Mrs. Wollam! —E.M.

Chamber Directors Make Goodwill Calls

This was a busy week for Ocean Beach Chamber of Commerce directors—they embarked on a program of goodwill calls on Peninsula area merchants, held a luncheon meeting and visited the site of the proposed Point Loma sewage disposal plant.

Two-man "goodwill teams" consisting of Harry LaDou, Chamber president, and one of the other 12 directors, began calling on merchants yesterday. All directors will participate.

LaDou said the calls are designed to determine the civic needs of the area—to get the ideas of the merchants for development of a program to serve the entire Peninsula.

After a luncheon in Dockstader's Cafe Tuesday, the directors, accompanied by H. E. Miller, of the San Diego office, State Water Polution Control Board, proceeded to the proposed site of the sewage disposal plant.

This is about one-half mile south of Azure Vista, La Dou estimated. Miller explained the project to the directors, who will study it thoroughly and encourage Peninsula residents to get all posible information about it, La Dou said.

Next directors meeting will be held Tuesday noon, Feb. 23, in the Kona Kai Club.

Now We're on the Attack Against Polio Through the March of Dimes.

"Gigi" Opens At Globe On Tuesday

"Gigi", a Cinderella tale with a topsy-turvy new French twist, will open Tuesday, Feb. 16 at the Old Globe Theatre in Balboa Park. Presented by the San Diego Community Theatre under the direction of Craig Noel, "Gigi" will be given nightly, except Mondays, at 8:30 through March 6.

"Gigi" is a comedy that ran to packed houses for seven months when first presented in New York. It was written by Anita Loos, famous for her "Gentlemen Prefer Blonds," the book, play, movie and musical comedy about another girl who believed the "diamonds are a girl's best friends." Miss Loos derived the play from the novel, also called "Gigi" by Colette who is the topmost fiction writer in France.

"Gigi" tells the story of a 16 year old girl who is the youngest of a family of ladies of France who are not accustomed to marriage. The joke of the story comes from the sense of scandal felt by the women who have raised Gigi with so much solicitude for her future, when they find that their protege, instead of becoming a rich man's mistress is to become his wife.

Sheila McMahon will be seen at the Globe as Gigi, the role that brought stardom to Audrey Hepburn during the New York run. Marion Ball Geer will have the part of Gigi's wily aunt who grooms her for a career of disreputability. Nan Adams will be seen as Gigi's mother and Dawna Shove portrays the role of her grandmother. Bruce Torbet will be the wealthy young rake who stuns Gigi's family by his unexpected and inconventional offer of marriage. F. C. Gaer and Geri Trent complete the cast as butler and maid.

"Vacation 'Round The Calendar' "

With vacation-time looming in sight, the annual Calendar Luncheon of the Point Loma Assembly Thursday presented its theme, "Vacation 'Round the Calendar in California", with colorful, pictorial scenes in miniature of Southern California's treasures for the tourist.

Decorations for the twelve tables depicted vacation trip tips for each month of the year, and Assembly members whose birthdays fell in that month were seated together. Mrs. Lyman Whitney, chairman of the traditional luncheon, was assisted by Mrs. George Gardner, in charge of culinary arrangements; Mrs. E. C. Hurst, who arranged the stage as a scene at an airline office, and a committee of table hostesses.

New Year's Eve in Palm Springs identified the month of January in a silver and white motif. Mrs. A. M. Lesem and Mrs. Raleigh W. Burlingame used Mrs. Burlingame's 200 year old silver clock as the centerpiece.

Skiing fun in February in California was demonstrated by tiny figures making the most of a snow bank on the table arranged by Mrs. T. F. Ryan and Mrs. C. F. Kearney. A profusion of cherry blossoms on miniature trees announced the Cherry Blossom Festival in Banning, Calif. in March and displayed the nimble handiwork of Mrs. James Wade and Mrs. E. P. Wyatt.

A Dude Ranch, with all its outdoor activities, was reproduced for April vacation-goers by Mrs. G. G. Wright and Mrs. Herbert Fifield. Romantic May suggested a review of the "Ramona" pageant by presenting a scene of Ramona and Alesandro, on his horse, at the wishing well. Mrs. Kenneth Warfield and Mrs. David Reed fashioned cherry trees for their effective background.

"Touring Hi-way 99" in June was the goal of Mrs. R. S. Taylor and Mrs. Robert Yowell, whose engineering feats produced a complete replica of the busy highway with its cars, trucks, service stations, stores, etc.

Favorite and familiar scene for July proved to be Mrs. J. D. Wier, and Mrs. C. D. Palmer's colorful bench scene with its sand sleepers, umbrella peepers, and its ocean bathers.

Blue water and tiny sail boats made Rainbow Fleet in Glorietta Bay for August's table, designed and arranged by Mrs. L. L. Carringer and Mrs. Harley Brown. The contrast of seashore and mountain scenes established San Diego as a year around vacation land and provided the September idea for Mrs. Bert Bone and Mrs. Archie Farmer.

Autumn colors and a miniature duck hunting blind suggested hunting as a favorite vacation in California in October. Mrs. J. C. Kermott and Mrs. A. P. Lyons arranged this table.

Two Dresden birds on a gold and bronze cloth and surrounded by autumn fruit and leaves announced "November and Home Coming" for Mrs. John A. Bishop's and Mrs. Frank J. Guasti's table. An authentic reproduction of a California Mission was used in the Christmas scene arranged by Mrs. Jennings Courts and Mrs. Ivan Finn.

A giant gavel, covered with flowers, formed the centerpiece on the Past Presidents table which was decorated by Mrs. Thomas D. Marks. Mrs. J. C. Snapp and Mrs. H. C. Lowry formed the reception committee. Mrs. Kathryn Hunter presented the program.

Makua Auxiliary Officers Named

Newly elected officers and board members for this year were introduced at the last meeting of Makua Auxiliary by Mrs. A. Paul Sutherland, outgoing president. The officers are: Mrs. Richard Huntington, president; Mrs. Philip White, vice-president; Mrs. Stewart Fox, treasurer; Mrs. Peter Burnham, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Lyle Butler, recording secretary, Mrs. Wendell Calkins, parliamentarian; and Mrs. David C. Schirm, publicity.

New committee heads were announced by Mrs. Huntington as follows: Mrs. Robert Bridge, program chairman; Mrs. Ernest E. Peterson, hostess; and Mrs. Gerald Champ Jr., Mrs. Robert Starkey, and Mrs. Richard Wilkenson, telephone. Mrs. Huntington paid tribute to Mrs. Sutherland and her board for their untiring work in organizing Makua, one of the newest auxiliaries to the Children's Home Society, into a working force in the community. Purpose of Makua is not only to raise funds for the Society, but to be an informative source for the public on procedures and methods of adoption. Every child placed in a happy home to become a well adjusted individual is one less problem for the community.

Programs for this year, as outlined by Mrs. Bridge, will acquaint members with various individual phases of the work of the agency. This month Miss Hughes, a trained worker from the Society will inform the group of the special problems of the unwed mother. She has just returned from a state conference in Riverside and will bring additional information on this subject.

On January 18th, at the home of Mrs. Sutherland, Mrs. Bridge presented an ornientation program for new members giving them a complete background of the work of the Children's Home Society, thus bringing them up to date with the material covered by members last year.

Feb. 1st a joint meeting of the old and new members was held in the home of Mrs. Huntington.

BENEATH THE SURFACE

— with —

LEE C. POOLE

Looking up from her knitting, Mary asked, "What do you mean you're "currently insured" or "fully insured" under the Federal Social Security Act?"

John Cerious explained, "There is a lot more beneath the surface of this Social Security than I realized. There were important amendments in 1952 and more important amendments being proposed in Congress now. I am "fully insured" because I have earned $50 or more in at least one of every two quarters that have elapsed since the close of 1950 and I have a minimum of 6 quarters of coverage."

"Sounds a little greeky to me", Mary volunteered. "What difference does it make anyway?"

"You are just the kind of person who should know," John emphasized. "There are probably thousands of wives, children—even grandpas and grandmas in these grand United States who are entitled to millions of dollars of Social Security Benefits—but they are not getting the benefits simply because someone didn't know the husband was" fully insured" at the time of his death and didn't apply for the benefits."

"John Cerious!" Mary exclaimed as she dropped her knitting and came to the arm of John's chair where she affectionately mussed his hair. "You are so serious about so many things that just don't seem important to me at all,—but I must admit after you talk about them, they really are matters that may be very vital to me and the children."

"Mary," John added, "Living is a serious business—let's not kid ourselves. We can make enough mistakes because of matters beyond our control. Why make mistakes over matters which are within our control, too? Once I have got 40 quarters of coverage, or 10 years of service under Social Security, we will have ourselves "fully insured" for life and certain benefits will come regardless of what we do."

John went further, "They is a matter of being "currently insured" too, under this Social Security Act. Take a younger fellow than I am who hasn't been working very long. As soon as he has got a minimum of 6 quarters of work experience under coverage employment in the 13 quarter period immediately preceding the day he might be killed in an accident, his wife and kids are entitled to the life insurance benefits under Social Security".

"Oh!" exclaimed Mary, "I remember reading in this column on January 21 about a case where nearly $35,000.00 of benefits would have been paid to a . . a . . Mrs. I. Planned, I think her name was."

"Mary," John gasped, "You amaze me by being so fuzzy about eso many things and, out of the blue come up wit ha name and a date and a figure from a column a month ago!"

"Maybe I'm not as fuzzy as you think," Mary chided John, "Besides Mr. I Planned turned out to be a pretty smart planner didn't he?—and you're so serious John Cerious, maybe we should devote some more attention to these matters right now while we are thinking about them. I think you will be around for me to tease until you are 99—but I guess that is what Mr. I Planned thought too when he insured his Social Security benefits for his family—and then he was killed coming home from work. Guess we just don't know when our number will be up, do we John?"

Questions Answered About Army Reserve

In order that a more adequate coverage may be given to the Army Reserve program, we shall endeavor to anewer the questions you most frequently ask.

1. Q. What type of units do you have at the Army Reserve Training Center, Fort Rosecrans?

A. Medical, Transportation, Engineer, Military Government, Artillery, Counter Intelligence, Station Complement (branch immaterial), Research and Development and a USAR School offering training in the various branches of the service.

2. Q. I have heard and seen a great deal about the need for men in the Army Reserves, but what about the women? Do you want us?

A. Indeed you are needed to fill vacancies in 18 specialized fields. The opportunities are needed to fill vacancies in 18 specialized fields. The opportunities are available for applicants with or without prior service. Thet ladies must have reached their eighteenth birthday. If you have dependents under 18 years of age, you may not participate in the program. If you have dependents under 18 years of age, you may not participate in the program. If you are over 35 years of age enlistment may be accomplished providing that certain additional requirements can be met. The benefits as outlined for male personnel equally apply for WAC and Nurse reservists.

3. Q. I was just released from Active Army and transferred to the Inactive Reserve. Since being released I thought of getting into an active unit, but fellows I have talked to tell me that is a one way ticket to recall into the Army should there be any trouble abroad. What about it?

A. First, your terminology is wrong. If you have a military obligation, you belong to the Early Ready reserve Reinforcement Group. This category should there be any trouble necessitating the call of reserves into serve, this Reinforcement Group would be the first to go. You would be sent as a filler to any Active Army unit. Experience showed us that in the Korean crisis fillers such as yourself were called into service, whereas, few reserve units were ordered to active duty. Take your choice.

Continue to address questions personally or by mail to your Army Reserve Training Center, Building 140, Fort Rosecrans, or call ACademy 3-3168.

$150 TB Essay Contest Nears Deadline Date

Local writers competing for the two $150 cash awards offered for papers on some phase of the tuberculosis problem were reminded today that the deadline for all entries will be March 1.

According to Dr. Robert T. Gardner Jr., president of the San Diego County Tuberculosis and Health Association, "The annual contest is open to any resident of the state, and there is still plenty of time to submit entries."

One award will be for the best non-medical paper or essay. The other will be for the best technical or medical paper, he said.

The awards are made annually by the California Tuberculosis and Health Association and its medical section, the California Trudeau Society.

Further information about the contests, as well as a copy of the rules, may be obtained from the San Diego County TB and Health Association, 3861 Front Street, San Diego 3.
